THE PEACE CONVENTION assembled at Washington on Monday and fully organized the following. JOHN TYLER, of Virginia, was President of the Convention and delivered an address, which is eulogized by inside patriots and conciliatory. The sessions are held with closed doors. The Convention consists, so far as is known at present, of delegates from eleven free and seven slave States—Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Hampshire, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Illinois, Vermont, Indiana, Connecticut, South Carolina—Deiware, Kentucky, Maryland, and North Carolina. Some years ago a party of gentlemen purchased the paper from Messrs. CRANSTON and NORMAN for pecuniary motives. Their object accomplished, we believe they, with but few exceptions, have abandoned the office to its fate.

THE PLANS OF ADJUSTMENT.—To enable members to make a fair comparison, we have set forth the following synopsis of the plans proposed before Congress for the settlement of the pending controversy, first giving briefly each section of the Missouri compromise act of 1820 that it may be understood how far the present plans can claim to be a restoration of that settlement.

THE MISSOURI COMPROMISE is as follows: "That the section from the Missouri act is as follows:

Section 8. And be it further enacted, That all territory ceded by France to the United States, under the name of Louisiana, which lies north of thirty six degrees and thirty minutes north latitude, and south of the thirty sixth degree of north latitude, and west of the State of the North, contemplated by this act, shall be forever held by the United States, and involuntarily servitude, otherwise than in the punishment of crimes, whereof the offender shall have been duly convicted, shall be, and is hereby, forever prohibited: Provided always, That any person escaping into the same, from labor or service, lawfully claimed by any State or territory of the United States, who may flee therefrom, shall be lawful reclaimed and conveyed to the person claiming his or her labor or service as aforesaid."

MR. CRITTENDEN'S PLAN.

The feature of Mr. Crittenden's plan which is alleged to correspond to the Missouri compromise, is offered as an amendment to the constitution in these words:

Art. I. In all the territory of the United States now held or hereafter to be acquired, north of latitude 36° 30', slavery or involuntary servitude except as a punishment for crime, is prohibited; while such territories remain under territorial government. In the territory south of said line of latitude north and hereafter to be acquired, slavery of African race is hereby recognized as existing, and shall not be interfered with by Congress, nor shall be protected as property by all the departments of the territorial government during its continuance; and when any territory north or south of said line, within such boundaries as Congress may prescribe, shall contain a population requisite for a member of Congress, according to the then federal ratio of representation of the people of the United States, it shall, if its form of government be republican, be admitted into the Union on equal footing with the original States, with or without slavery, as the constitution of such new state may provide."

Mr. Crittenden proposes, moreover, to forbid Congress to abolish slavery in Maryland, Delaware, &c., in the slave States; or to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia while slavery exists in Maryland or Virginia; or without the consent of the inhabitants, or without compensation to unwilling owners, or ever to forbid officers of government from bringing their slaves and holding them in the District of Columbia, or punishing their presence; to forbid Congress to interfere with the inter-State slave trade; to empower Congress when a fugitive slave is rescued from the marshal to lay a tax upon the collector for the value of the slave, the owner to recover from the rescuers; to forbid any person from obstructing affecting with the soundness or the safety of representation, or the close touching the rendition of fugitive slaves, or enabling Congress to interfere with slavery in any State; to forbid persons having any African blood from holding the elective franchise or being eligible for Federal, State, territorial or municipal office; and to authorize the acquisition of territory for the colonization of free negroes.

And he proposes to declare by statute that the fugitive slave law is constitutional, and that resistance to it should be punished; that State laws conflicting with it, though null, are dangerous and should be repealed; that any person presenting fugitive slaves to him should be amenable to suit to make the commissioner's fee legal in all cases, and to limit the power of calling on the posse comitatus to cases of actual danger or rescue; and that the laws for suppressing the African slave trade ought to be made effectual and executed.

In answer to the proposition to be taken at once for the enlightenment of Congress, the amendments and laws to be passed, however, under the usual forms.

MR. BIGLER'S PLAN.

Mr. Bigler of Pennsylvania has proposed a scheme following Mr. Crittenden's as to the territorial question, the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, and the admission of new States, (omitting the perpetual exception in favor of government officers) the recovery of the value of fugitives rescued, the inter-State slave trade, and future amendments, but providing in addition by the constitution that the African slave trade shall not be revived; that no one shall be elected to either House, and that the President shall be elected for six years and not be eligible for a second term. Mr. Bigler's plan also makes elaborate provision for taking a vote of the people on his amendment on the 12th of February, next, respecting the African slave trade, and the Senate, as the returns being made to the Secretary of State; the amendments all to be passed and ratified, however, as provided by the constitution.

THE COMMITTEE'S PLAN.

The committee of thirty-three authorized Mr. Corwin to present a series of resolutions, which, however, they did not deem wise to recommend. These resolutions one offered by Mr. Adams provides for the immediate admission of New Mexico, including Arizona as a State, with or without slavery as its constitution may provide. Another, also offered by Mr. Adams, proposes an amendment to the constitution to the effect that no amendment shall originate in either of the States shall be proposed by a State not acquiescing slavery in its own limits, or passing without the assent of every State. Another recommends the several States to repeal enactments tending to conflict with laws made for the rendition of fugitive slaves in pursuance of the constitution, and to provide for the security of citizens of other States from injury violence while traveling orjourning in a State, and to provide for the punishment of mutiny invasions. The committee also presents a new fugitive slave bill prepared by Mr. Adams of Maryland, requiring a hearing before commissioners to receive public notice of commissioners order the return of the alleged fugitive, and the latter aware that he is free, he is to be given to the marshal, who is to deliver him to the marshal of the State whence he is ascertained have fled, when the case is to be tried by jury before a Circuit Court, and the defendant is to be legally guilty having counsel and process to procure evidence at the expense of the United States, and being returned to the State where he was arrested if found by the jury to be free the marshal receiving the alleged fugitive be required to give a certificate to that effect; the description of the person, to be sent to the District of Columbia, where the fugitive was seized; and no citizen to be required aid the marshal, except in case of apprehension and rescue. Another resolution transfers the duty of acting on requisitions for fugitives from justice from the Governors of the several States to the United States courts.

THE BORDER STATE PLAN.

The resolutions introduced by Mr. Ellinger of Tennessee provide for eight amendments to the constitution. For upon the territorial question is as follows:

Art. 6. In all that part of the territory of the United States, not included within the limits of any State which lies north of the parallel of 36° 30' north latitude, slavery or involuntary servitude, except for crime, shall be prohibited; and in all that territory of the United States, not included within the limits of any State, which lies south of said parallel of 36° 30' north latitude, neither Congress nor any State shall pass any law abolishing, prohibiting, or in manner interfering with the right to hold slaves; and whenever, in any portion of the territory owned by the States north or south of the parallel of 36° 30', there shall be, within the area of not less than sixty thousand square miles, a population sufficient to require representation for a member of Congress, the State shall be admitted by Congress into the Union as a State; upon the same footing with the original States in all respects whatever, with or without slavery, as its constitution may determine.

The others forbid Congress to interfere with slavery in the States or possessions, in the District of Columbia, or in any slaveholding State, without the consent of Maryland and Virginia and the inhabitants of the District, or without compensation to unwilling owners, or to prohibit the inter-State slave trade; they perpetually prohibit African slave trade, and require for the acquisition of new territory, that the majority of two-thirds of both Houses, or a treaty sanctioned by a vote of two-thirds of the Senate; and amend article for returning fugitives from am-as to require the rendition of any person charged in any State with treason, felony or other crime, against the laws of said State." The resolutions offered by Mr. Etheridge are substantially the same as those which were adopted by the majority at a meeting of Representatives from the border States, except the amendment requiring a vote of two-thirds for any acquisition of territory, which, we believe, was subsequently added by Mr. Etheridge.

THE correspondent of the New York Times, referring to the border State proposition and Mr. Adams' plan, says:

The following is a statement, as nearly as can be ascertained, of the relative strength of the friends of amicable adjustment, upon the basis of either of the propositions last named, or some other which does not contribute practically to the extension of slavery or the humiliation of the Republican party:

Of course in this list some are left out whose political status never is known until they discover which course the majority will pursue.—Id.

Confident gentlemen are counted among those who are willing to make accommodating terms with the border States, as they will undoubtedly be found voting thus when a vote upon the subject is reached. This class includes both Republicans and Democrats who are willing to accept some one or all the measures that have been proposed.

NAPOLEON III. SKATING ON THE CENTRAL PARK OF PARIS.—The Paris correspondent of the London Herald, writing on the 13th ult., gives the following account of the manner in which Napoleon III. sometimes divers himself. The Emperor Napoleon arrived at the lake in the Bois de Boulogne about three P. M., on Friday, in a plain chariot drawn by two horses, and unattended by any escort. He alighted from his carriage, and crossed the lake on his skates. He was soon recognized by some men wearing glasses, who had a cry of "Here is the Emperor." Vive l'Empereur!" The cry attracted universal attention, and everybody ran and everybody cheered. The Emperor continued to skate, apparently delighted with the enthusiastic reception he met with. The Emperor, seeing a child in a sledge, pushed forward by his nurses, who had taken the place of the servants, and drove the sledge. Having amused himself for about half an hour, more like a schoolboy enjoying a holiday than an Emperor, he left as quietly as he came.

MAN PROPOSES AND GOD DISPOSES. When the Secretary of War, John B. Floyd, and Captain Meigs had their differences, the President taking the side of Mr. Floyd, Captain Meigs was ordered to Florida, to take command of Fort Jefferson, on the Tortugas, and it was considered by himself and his friends a sort of banishment. Within the last month, however, the President, moved by his officers, who had taken the side of the servants, and drove the sledge. Having amused himself for about half an hour, more like a schoolboy enjoying a holiday than an Emperor, he left as quietly as he came.

MORTALITY OF QUAKERS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND.—From the statistics appended to the Annual Obituary of the Society of Friends, for the past year, it appears that in Great Britain and Ireland there were 324 deaths; of these 133, or 11 per cent, were over seventy years of age; 58 over eighty years; and 9 over ninety years. The average duration of life in the Society of Friends during 1860 was fifty-eight years and six months; but one girl died under six months old; 5 girls and 13 boys—in all 18 out of the 324, or 5.14 per cent—did not reach the age of one year.

COL. HAYNE'S COMMUNICATION.—Col. Hayne made his formal communication to the President Saturday. So far from demanding the surrender of Fort Sumter as the ultimatum, the tone is quite pacific and conciliatory. Gov. Pickens and the State authorities do not desire a collision, and have exerted their influence to prevent it. The outside pressure is for fight, and the Government, and being a native Pennsylvanian, will no doubt do credit to himself, his State, and his country.

THE authorities of Florida have taken the boldest step yet, in arresting an officer of the United States Navy, Lieut. James Jewett, a native of Kentucky,—who was arrested when it became known that he was about leaving Florida, and forced to sign a parole of honor that he would not take up arms against the State of Florida in order, that he might be released from imprisonment. Without this document, he could not have passed through the State. The Navy Department have possession of all the facts connected with this outrage.

The following plan for a new military law has been agreed upon by the leading military men of Maine, and will probably be carried out by legislative enactment:—The members of the voluntary militia to be limited to 2400, the companies to have an annual encampment of three days, with a payment of $2.50 per day and mileage to each man; three public company drills and two elementary drills of the commissioned officers, each year.

ALL of Gen. Dix's telegraphic dispatches to the agent, sent to Mobile and New Orleans, were intercepted by authorities. They could not have been known without the instrumentality of the agents, and this is a very serious question in the naval officer to the public. Order to the naval officer at Pensacola were stopped in the same way, by which that navy-yard was lost to the Government.

THE City of Washington was planned by Major L'Enfant, with especial reference to its capability for defence against a mob. Paris having been taken a few years before by the mob, through a resort to barricades, Major L'Enfant deemed it important so to construct the new Federal City, as to render this mode of warfare impracticable within its limits.

NATIONAL DEBTS.—The National debt of the United States amounts to about a dollar and a half for each inhabitant, while the sum of one hundred and thirty-five dollars each would be required from the British population if they should pay theirs.

COASTING SPEED.—At Middletown, Conn., last week, the speed made by the boys with their coasting sleds was timed. The time-keeper found that the sleds made half a mile in eighteen seconds; or nearly two miles a minute. The coast was very steep all the way to the river.

THE U. S. Senate has passed a bill to provide a Government for the Territory of Colorado.—This is the same Territory which last week was called Idaho, that name having been dropped and Colorado adopted.

PRENTICE says many of the South Carolinians not only have Yankee arms in their hands, but they must in warlike parade, but Yankee arms around their necks in the privacy of their homes.

Messrs. Hyatt and Starnes have issued an address stating that starvation is starving fifty thousand Kansas people in the face. Aid is solicited to mitigate their sufferings.

THE branch mint, containing $300,000, and custom house at New Orleans were seized by State authorities on Saturday.

THIRTY-FIVE men were killed last year in duels in the United States.

They were shown a document signed by Mayors in office of the cities of the United States and Canada, certifying to the superior excellence of Dr. Ayer's compound extract of Sassafras and to the value of all his remedies for the cure of great public ailments. Such evidence as this high source bears us out triumphantly in the position we have long maintained with relation to Dr. Ayer's Preparations, or more particularly our advertisements of them. No publisher of great public utility could afford to neglect the propagation of quackery in any shape, but we knew we began that his remedies were above any suspicion of deception—that they were about the best it is possible to produce for the cure of disease, and that they held the confidence of all communities where they are known. Not alone have the Mayors of the whole country believe in useful to their people, but because we know from experience that they are so in fact, do we have no hesitations in recommending them to the reader in making their virtues known to them.—Courier, Princeton, Ky.
